Herman Melville

As we embark on life's voyage . . .

"But oh! Shipmates! on the starboard hand of every woe, there is sure delight; and higher the top of that delight, than the bottom of the woe is deep. Is not the main-truck higher than the Kelson is low? Delight is to him a far, far upward, and inward delight — who against the proud gods and commodores of this earth, ever stands forth his own inexorable self. Delight is to him whose strong arms yet support him, when the ship of this base treacherous world has gone down beneath him. Delight is to him, who gives no quarter in the truth, and kills, burns, and destroys all sin though he pluck it out from under the robes of Senators and Judges."

from Father Mapple's sermon in Herman Melville's Moby Dick

In gratitude to one who has touched our lives and left us better because of that touch, we the class of '76 dedicate this book to Mr. K. Bradford Dawson. In us, he still lives.

Tributes

Mr. K. Bradford Dawson, a teacher of English at New Bedford High School, died tragically and too young. He will be remembered as a man of boundless energy, as a teacher of great scholarship and high professionality and as a real friend to those of all generations.

Mr. Charles Robinson

The most outstanding facet to Brad Dawson is unquestionably his devotion to young people whether they were his own four teenagers or his students. NBHS students often sought him out in his homeroom, during passing periods and after. They knew that he would not only listen but also that he would care. They shared a few laughs during the course of busy days.

After his sudden death, it was my sad duty to set aside for his family Mr. Dawson's personal books and papers. This provided fresh insight into his personality. Mr. Dawson was a religious and thoughtful man. He had recently developed a mini-course in the Bible with which he was thoroughly familiar. His own poems and those of cherished writers reflected his convictions and indicated the hopes for the students in his popular Creative Writing classes.

Brad Dawson, the teacher, was also a student of life and of the forces that shape every one of us.

CONGRATULATIONS

The 1976 Crimson Log would like to extend its heartiest congratulations to the graduates of New Bedford High School.

It has been a long, hard, tiresome road, but you have finally reached its end. For some the road was longer than for others, but your hard work and determination has brought you to that point in time where you must now face a world filled with more bells, homework, and cafeteria style food.

As you grow and mature you will discover that the life which you have chosen is quite reminiscent of your high school years. For you life will still have its ninth periods, conduct cards, and detentions.

For you there will be no turning away from what you have learned here at New Bedford High School. Each day will remind you of that. You will find that the occasional term paper you were assigned has now grown in number. Each year you will find that life will flood you with term papers, and at times you will find that some are quite reminiscent of others.

Go forth from here today, and turn back only for strength. Look back on your high school years only for joy. Never make yourself believe that what once was, will ever really be the same again.

Life is a grand thing, and it has an evergrowing future. Look forward to your life with joy and enthusiasm.

Once again we wish to congratulate you, and wish you the best of luck in years to come.

Says his ambition is to learn to write. Speeding and partying satisfy him. Find him with Michelle or in the smokeroom (his car). Fantastic riches are his dream fulfilled.

DOLORES LAMB

"DeeDee" Likes dancing and going out. Enjoyed Teenage Culture, Mrs. Purcell at NBHS. Dislikes being alone, phony people. Would like to visit Mexico, Hawaii. Hopes for a good marriage. Noted for eyes. To college or Police Academy. "Ai Yi."

STEVEN LAPRADE

JOHN MACHADO

STEPHEN MAKIN

DARLENE MCKIBBEN

Enjoys watching T.V. Liked Mrs. Lagasse's Office Practice class. Happiest when in the company of her boy friend. Thought Mrs. Caton was really nice. Best quality: good personality. Uptight when yelled at. To get married — please!!

A.F.S. Exchange Student

Anna-Carin Andersson
Vilanvagen 38
75257 Uppsala, Sweden

Till alla underbara människor som jag träffade under mitt år som stipendiat i NBHS.

Det är svårt att förklara hur värdefullt det här året har varit för mig. Jag var verkligen lycklig över att jag hade möjligheten att komma till USA och leva som en amerikan. Det är det bästa sättet att lära känna ett land och dess människor. Eftersom NBHS är ganska olik min svenska skola, lärde jag mig en massa nya saker. "Spirit week", till exempel, var något som jag aldrig hade upplevt förut. Jag önskar dock att någon hade talat om för mig innan vattenpolo matchen, att amerikanska tjejer aldrig bär bikini vintertid.

Fieldhockey säsongen var kul. Jag lärde mig inte enbart en ny sport, utan jag lärde också känna så många rara människor. Jag lyckades kvalificera mig som NBHS' bäste svenska fieldhockey spelare. Jag tyckte också väldigt mycket om att vara medlem av Crimson Courie redaktionen.

Jag hoppas att jag har lämnat något av Sverige hos er. Jag kommer alltid att ha en liten del av Amerika i mitt hjärta.

Er tillgivne svenska stipendiat
Anna-Carin Andersson

To all the wonderful people I met during my year as an exchange student at NBHS:

It's hard to explain how valuable this year has been to me. I was really happy that I had the opportunity to come to the USA and live like an American. It's the best way to get to know a country and its people. Since NBHS is quite a bit different from my Swedish school, I learned a lot of new things. Spirit Week for example was something I had never experienced before. I wish though, that someone had told me before the waterpolo game that American girls never wear bikinis in the winter.

The field hockey season was just great. I didn't only learn a new sport, but I also met so many nice people. I managed to qualify myself as NBHS' best Swedish field hockey player. I also enjoyed very much being a member of the "Crimson Courier" staff.

I hope that I have brought a little bit of Sweden to you. I will always have a little piece of America in my heart.

Sincerely,
Your Swedish Exchange Student,
Anna-Carin Andersson

Despite a slow start at the opening of this year's football season, the Whalers rallied to finish with a six-game winning streak highlighted by the Thanksgiving game against Durfee. As the season opened, The Whalers were plagued by two losses, the first to Dartmouth and a week later to Acton-Boxborough. Although the next week marked the Whaler's first victory, in which they beat Barnstable 30-0, they were plagued again with another loss, this one to Pittsfield.

The next six games were all victories for the Whalers, winning against Falmouth, Taunton, a 13-6 win over Attleboro, 14-6 over Catholic Memorial, a 21-9 victory over Somerset and the final victory over Durfee, 20-6.

The Class of '76 will always remember the Thanksgiving game and all the football games they attended throughout the years and wish to thank the players for their dedication and hard work, especially the senior players.

Girls' Field Hockey

The Girls' Field Hockey Team had a fantastic third season due to the dedication of Assistant Coach Lynn Vera and Head Coach Marcia Fourcart. The girls practiced diligently throughout the teacher's strike, overcoming such odds as: no equipment and no practice field until a week before the first game. They devoted their time, talents, and energies, making this third season the best ever.

Soccer

The thrilling antics of the New Bedford High School Soccer Team have once again brought them statewide recognition. Their superb play enabled them to enter the Eastern Massachusetts soccer tournament riding a winning streak of eleven games. Coach Bob Parker's squad continued their fine season by defeating Boston Tech. in the first preliminary match. In the second round match, the Whalers once again proved themselves worthy opponents by sneaking by Wellesley High 3-2 in a tough battle. After annihilating Lexington High with ease, the N.B.H.S. squad met their match in the semi-finals, losing to Needham in an excellent exhibition of soccer talent by both schools. The entire student body salutes the dedicated, hard-working 1975-1976 New Bedford High School soccer team led by co-captains Horace Carvalho and Manny Silva.

Cross-Country

Coach — Richard Ponte

"No, thanks, not on the job."

"Coach, are you sure it was on this road that you lost your contact lens?"

"Honest, officer, we didn't do anything."

"Where have you been all my life!"

"You mean I have to run?"

The Cross Country team's record was surprisingly good in light of the fact that they never got off to a solid start. Even though school was officially closed, many members still attended practice and they would like to express their deep appreciation to Steve Caton for his coaching support throughout the strike. Cross Country, unlike basketball and football, does not seem to attract many spectators, but this lack of support didn't seem to diminish the team's effort. For their long hours of practice and running with such determination, the team should be commended and thanked.

Winter Track

The New Bedford High School track team, in one of the most spectacular seasons in recent history, has captured the Southeastern Mass. Conference Championships in Division I. In addition to the compiling of a 10-0 record, many personal and state schoolboy records were broken. Wayne Souza, a double threat man, set records in both the fifty yard dash and the high jump. In the weight events, Glenn Pires brought fear to the hearts of all shotputters with his tosses consistently over fifty feet. Other impressive performers this season were Carlos Vieira and Mark Thornhill in the middle distance events, and Ben Burns in the high hurdling event. The student body of NBHS can all be proud of their outstanding performance this year, and salutes Dick Ponte's fleet-footed athletes.

In this bicentennial year of our country, no team exemplifies the spirit of "76" better than the 1975-1976 Girls' Basketball Team. This year's squad is one of the most athletic teams in New Bedford this year. Sporting an 11-2 record, the Whalers have found only Bishop Stang unconquerable in two extremely competitive battles. Tom Giasson, in his first year in the coaching position, has led the team to a second place finish in their division. Boasting the consistently brilliant performances of Mary Beehan, Robyn Nelson, and Debbie Smith, few teams have been worthy opponents for the mighty women of N.B.H.S. We proudly take our hats off to a team that has truly thrilled the entire city of New Bedford.

Ice Hockey

Led by new coach John Rolli and sophomore star goalie Bob Allen, the NBHS hockey team battled the tough teams of S.M.C. (Southeastern Mass Conference). The N.B. Whalers have an overall record of 6 wins 4 losses and 4 ties. They have played well all year but have run into some bad luck in the final seconds of action.

The captains this year are David Tschaen and Steve Vargas. Dave feels that the new coach has been a man "who knows hockey better than anyone else in the area." Coach Rolli, who originated his coaching career in the Boston area, has stressed fundamentals such as forechecking and backchecking. The Whalers' most important features this year have been defense, goal tending and three strong lines. The highlight of this year's season was a 3-3 tie with powerhouse Barnstable. A tie is supposed to be like kissing your sister but last year Barnstable beat N.B.H.S. 9-0. According to Tschaen the Whalers were "extremely up for the game because of the great desire for revenge." It was a hard fought contest with all Whalers playing their hearts out. Two standouts this year are Bob Fitzsimmons and Pete Lariviere. Bob has been the offensive star for the Whalers this year. The key to his success has been the fierce competition he has faced up against. Peter, a young freshman, has been one of the standouts on the N.B.H.S. team. He has supplied a lot of the offensive punch and has been steady on defense. With three years ahead of him we may have N.B.H.'s answer to Bobby Orr. All N.B.H.S. players have played with great desire and inspiration, a credit to their new coach John Rolli.

In weeks leading up to the opening of the high school basketball season, this appeared to be one of the most promising years for the New Bedford High School basketball team in quite some time. With the likes of Bob Cruz, David Houtman, Peter Rosa and Robert Barboza in the foreground, a championship was assured. Unfortunately smooth sailing was not ahead. An injury to the ever-present Bob Cruz and an extremely tough schedule left the NBHS Whalers fighting for their existence in their division. In the weeks that followed, the tide began to turn. With the return of Bob Cruz and the outstanding performances of Rosa, Houtman and Barboza, their overall court performances began to show flashes of perfection. This brought a fine conclusion to a somewhat disappointing season, but NBHS appreciates their efforts and wishes them good luck next year!

Swimming

The New Bedford High Swim Team stroked its way to a greatly improved record of 5-7 this year. Led by record-breaking Peter Hodgins and Patti Sheerin the Diving Team was victorious in most of their events. The Swim Team, with stars like Peter Marshall, Danny DaRosa, and Mike Iacaponi worked together to defeat Taunton, Dedham, Needham, and Norwood. We thank and congratulate them for their dedicated effort in the pursuit of excellence for the glory of N.B.H.S.

You Know You're a Senior When . . .

Mr. Calnan tells you with a straight face that you must set the tone for the whole school.

you're finally able to drive yourself to school, and a Junior has taken your parking place.

somebody really knows your name in guidance.

you finally get to meet the Dean.

you find that the cost of living has risen faster than the money in your wallet.

you catch on to the fact the announcements of college representatives' visits mean getting out of majors!

you get hundreds of letters from colleges telling you what a great student you are.

three-fourths of the announcements on the P.A. concern you, and you can't hear them.

they measure you for a cap and gown and tell you they don't make caps that big.

you finally pay your sophomore and junior dues so that you can get your yearbook.

you come down with an incurable disease known as "senioritis."

you realize that everything that you said about the school is true, but deep down you know that you'll miss every minute of it.

You Know You're an Underclassman When . . .

a senior tells you to take the elevator to the third floor.

you get lost for the thirty-third time between B-240 and B-295.

the teacher on corridor duty asks you if you're sure you don't go to Keith.

your G period teacher keeps right on talking because "the notices never pertain to you anyway."

you look around you and realize that you're the only one with tendonitis from the load of books you always carry.

you're always the first one in your classroom . . . and in your seat.

you don't dare to start chewing gum OPENLY until your junior year.

you only tell teachers off when you're in a group.

you always have a yellow slip in the corridors.

you elect class officers you never heard of before — and may never again!

you wait until you get home to go to the bathroom.

you're the only one on the bus who is standing, even though you got on first.

you're hunry enough to eat triple servings of the cafeteria food.

the jocks and Joe Cools monopolize the nice big red gym lockers, leaving the tiny cubbyholes to squeeze your clothes into.

you find yourself praying that some magic carpet will pick you up and waft you painlessly into September of your senior year.

Fresh'man (fresh'man), n; pl.-men (-men). A novice; esp., a student during his or her first year.

Soph'o more (sof'o more) A second year student in high school.

Jun'ior (joon'yer) Lower in standing or in rank. Hence: One of a lower or later standing; speci., in American colleges and schools, one in the second year of a three year course, or one in the third year of a four year course.

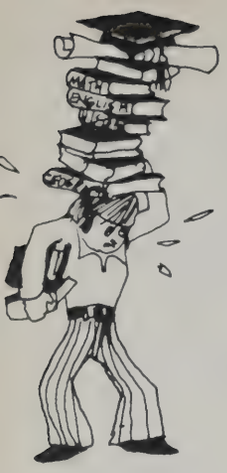
"Miles separate us; Memories bind us. We are apart; But we are together." Cheryl



June, 1976

To my dear friend on the occasion of our high school graduation:

It all started on the Wednesday after Labor Day in September of 1973. The alarm clock rang and we became high school sophomores. The summer was over, it was time to get up, get dressed, and begin the long, lonely walk to school. I decided not to get up but my mother had a different idea. She came into the room and kicked me out of bed, saying cheerfully, "Time for school!" As she threw me bodily out of the front door with the aggravating phrase, "Have a nice day, dear!" my stomach twisted itself into knots and a lump rose in my throat. The inner conflict began. "What if I don't know anybody, what if I get lost, I can't remember my homeroom number or my house color . . .?" The "what ifs" were endless. Outwardly, however, I assumed a casual attitude; no one would ever suspect that I wasn't cool.

Somehow I found my homeroom in that maze of endless corridors. Suddenly I was faced with the impossible task of remembering a student number, two locker numbers, two combinations, a different house and number for each class, not to mention the essentials like my name, address, and phone number. As if all the numbers weren't bad enough, already a week was no longer Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday: it had become Day1, Day2, Day3, etc. To add to the aggravation, time was forgotten and bells rang constantly signaling the start of period A, the end of passing period and the dismissal bell.

Confusion reigned but somewhere out of the confusion our friendship was born. When I got lost, you were always there helping me. We got involved with school sports and our friendship blossomed. Just as we were beginning to adjust to the hectic pace, the Energy Crisis began. Congress abolished Daylight Saving Time. The result locally was that three thousand New Bedford High Students were forced to search blindly in the cold, dark, predawn hours for the school building. Period A brought many a magnificent sunrise, something many of us had never seen before. The Energy Crisis also meant lowering the temperature in school. As a result, many resorted to wearing long johns, ski sweaters, snorkel jackets, and mittens in school.

By the time spring arrived we were all experts at finding our way around the school and around our teachers. "Fiddler on the Roof" was the Drama Club production that year. We had a new circle of friends and new loves, and our friendship was strengthened each day.

Junior year we entered the building seasoned veterans. Outwardly the world had changed, the president of the United States had resigned but our little school world did not seem to be affected. The only obvious changes in school life were the addition of freshmen to the school population and Mr. Calnan's replacing Mr. Rodrigues as headmaster. It was good to see the "old gang" together once again. You and I tried all the new fads that year like earth shoes, painter pants, toesocks and platform shoes. We joined clubs and watched the soccer team make it to the state finals. We rejoiced when the football team crushed Durfee in the annual Thanksgiving match. The girls' and boys' basketball teams had super seasons.

I think the times I remember best were the lunch periods when all our friends would gather round and discuss the "delicious" cafeteria food, gossip about each others' dates, teachers, and friends, and applaud the unfortunate person who dropped his lunch tray. Try to smile when you remember that milk cost us a nickel.

When we turned sixteen and a half we took our driving lessons together. The road test was terrible. The Registry man made me so nervous that for a minute I couldn't remember how to start the car, but I passed anyway.

The Spring brought a dazzling performance of "HELLO, DOLLY!" and the great quest for summer jobs. Responsibilities were becoming more and more a part of everyday life. Oh, the memory of that wonderful day when the old seniors left school and we became SENIORS! The Class of "76" had made it to their final year.

September brought the all important soul-searching time of deciding whether or not to go to college. We were given an extended vacation when the New Bedford teachers staged a five-week strike. It was mid-October before the school year really got started. I had decided to go to college and faced the problems of where to apply for admission, when to take the SAT, and the big question of where to get the money for a college education. You preferred to start working right away and faced the seemingly impossible task of trying to find a good job in the midst of a recession.

We still managed to join a few clubs and support the fantastic football and soccer teams we had that fall, but in the back of our minds the same thought kept playing over and over again: "This is the last time I'll ever do this; this is the end." Every weekend was party time and the Bicentennial Year came in with a bang! An epidemic of senioritis spread throughout the class. It was a sad day when I gave you my picture and tried to say all the things your friendship meant to me on the back of a wallet-size picture.

We tried to get the most out of remaining days together. "Oklahoma!" was the play that year and many of us tried acting. April brought my acceptance to college and in May you found a job. We had the Senior Banquet at Valle's Steak House — what a wild night! We both got dates for the Senior Prom. Our remaining days in school were spent checking daily to see if the yearbooks had come in and making promises to see each other when we could.

The last day of school, when the final dismissal bell rang, we headed out to the parking lot and began an unofficial Class Day with honking horns and a feeling of joy everywhere. The prom at the Venus de Milo was beautiful and after our midnight breakfast we partied until early the next morning. At graduation rehearsals we continued making plans for future get-togethers.

Graduation day was very sad. When I was handed my diploma I knew that my carefree high school days were over and that I was at the mercy of the big world around me. I was now an adult with responsibilities. Never again would I enjoy a leisurely friendship with you, my closest friend. But I will never forget the comfort, help, and advice you gave to me and the times we shared together. Thank you for giving me your wisdom, strength, and friendship; it will always be a beautiful memory.

With fondest memories,
Your ex-classmate

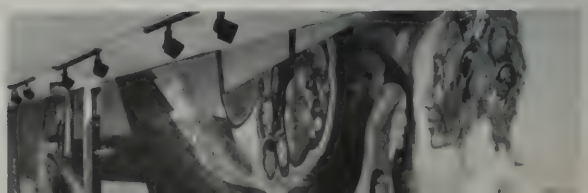
PHILIP BRONSPIEGEL MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM



Laughter, lectures,
chalk dust,
books and homework.
It's an old refrain,
but it has a special place in the memory of each of us.

Class Will

We the class of 1976 being of sound mind and somewhat stable body do hereby leave this will and testament (old or new, whichever you prefer). And we forever hope that our legacy will be a guiding light for those who were fortunate enough to benefit from our demise.

We bequeath:

Conrad Richard — a year without "conferences" with the headmaster.
Wayne Souza — another Durfee game so he can play in it.
Mr. Calnan — a bag full of "G's" that he lost this year.
Mrs. Gelinas — students who really believe that she is 29.
Richard Alfreds — another year so that he can have a fall production.
Miss Salbego — her own personal geography book.
Bernice Chandler — a megaphone inscribed with "Hey Toots!"
Bob Hathaway — an autographed picture of Miss Burchell.
Miss Burchell — an autographed picture of Bob Hathaway.
Mr. Longo — a revolving door to the Tan House.
Joe Costa — A Bulova watch so that he'll never be late again.
Debbie Moura — recognition for being the whale.
Treg Monty — a Nostalgia Day every day.
Danny Poirier — a camera that never needs focusing.
Richard Harriman — a chance to graduate.
Mr. Charbonneau and Mr. Marchand — the NBH Whalers for their next musical.
Beverly Chandler — a little modesty.
Mr. Robinson — a mini-course with Big Ang.
Sherri Goldberg — a peanut butter and fluff sandwich.
Jimmy Booker — a PBA title.
John Dupre — a meal ticket.
The New Bedford Fire Dept. — a year without false alarms.
Mark Amaral — we leave alone.
Dan Starkie and Brian Woodacre — a full class in their school.
The Photography Classes — a great big beautiful darkroom.
Donna Demers — a shot at the Miss America title.
Mark Macedo — a lifetime membership to Alhambra's.
The custodial staff — gum-resistant floors.
Joe Amaral — a million-dollar music career.
Mike Leblanc — a one-way ticket to Mt. Olympus.
Kathi Medeiros — less revealing clothes.
Mike Clark — a pair of winged track sneakers so he can make a name for himself.
Michael Roussos — a full scholarship to Tim Buk Tu University.
Mr. Owen — a box of Munchkins.
Mary Kummer — a chance to become involved in everything.
Colleen Pina — a one-woman show at the Louvre.
Gary Lavimoniere — a commission in the Navy.
Mrs. Harper — a better title.
Frank Gallant — a gig with Chick Correia.
